

3 Hour Workshop

Harmony is essential to your overall business results and performance. It also leads to staff retention, coercive working environments and also promotes positive wellbeing amongst all employees.

This 3 hour workshop offers a fun and innovative way of getting to know an individual's core personality enabling them to see how they blend and communicate with others in a team environment. Using colour as a tool, it creates a powerful and non-threatening language for individuals to see their own unique personal strengths and expertise and sheds light on personal limitations.

When looking at the full skills palette it creates an instant understanding of shared skills and how well the team members compliment each other. Individuals may display a style of communication that is not the same as their core personalities but offers additional skills in the day to day working environment.

The workshop also offers an insight into communication styles through colour and how synergy and diverse communication styles can build pathways for harmonious communication with teams.

We supply all the materials needed for the workshop and guarantee that there is plenty of participation, in turn building rapport through the language of colour. Once individuals learn their colours it can open a door to a greater understanding of themselves and people they work with.

The Workshop

The objective is that individuals come away with a greater understanding of how knowing their colour palette can help them to:

- To become more self-aware by understanding their own innate positive traits and skills
- To understand their own personal style of communication and those of their colleagues
- To spend valuable time together to build and support one another
- To identify new ways to generate positive participation and integration with the team environment

The subjects are as follows (a combination of practical exercises and interactive sessions:-

- Getting to know the core personality traits through colour
- Getting to know communication styles of the team as a whole through the language of colour
- Practical ways to support each other on a day-to-day basis
- Identify limiting skills in themselves and how they can gain support by integrating with others
- Recognising up and coming talent within the team and developing further training potential
- Using the colour language to help build rapport between the team and customers

Each attendee receives a Clever Colour Tool along with their own unique Colour Workbook
